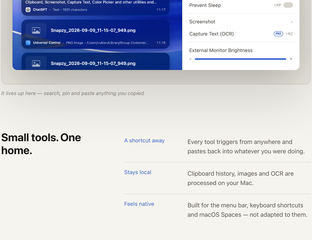
macOS 15.2 or later · distributed outside the App Store



It lives up here — search, pin and paste anything you copied.

Small tools. One home.

A shortcut away
Every tool triggers from anywhere and pastes back into whatever you were doing.

Stays local
Clipboard history, images and OCR are processed on your Mac.

Feels native
Built for the menu bar, keyboard shortcuts and macOS Spaces — not adapted to them.

01 · SCREENSHOT

Capture it. Then make it useful.

Region, full screen, or the last shot again — then take it further.

Quick Capture · Annotate · Scrolling · Pro · Subject · Pro

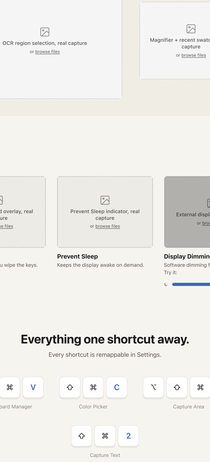
Full Annotate: arrows, blur, spotlight, counters, cropping and watermarks.

02 · CLIPBOARD MANAGER

Everything you've copied, ready to find again.

Past the popup: search across your whole history, filter by type, pin what matters, preview before committing to it. 50 items on Free · 500 on Pro



Search & filter
Press ⇧, type, or filter to text, images, files or links.

Pin & preview
Keep recurring items on top. See images and files without opening them.

Paste in place
Select an item and it lands in the app you were already using.

03 · MORE USEFUL THAN IT LOOKS

Capture Text PRO

Select any region on screen and get the text back — powered by Apple Vision, entirely on device.

OCR region selection, real capture or browse files

Display Dimming
Software dimming for external displays. Try it:

Everything one shortcut away.

Every shortcut is remappable in Settings.

⌃⌘V Clipboard Manager · ⌃⌘C Color Picker · ⌥⌃⌘4 Capture Area · ⌃⌘2 Capture Text

Built for Mac.

Native
Lives in the menu bar, triggers from any app, and works the same across every macOS Space and display.

Private
Clipboard history and images stay local. Capture Text runs Apple Vision on device. No DeskUtils account, ever.

Questions

Is DeskUtils on the Mac App Store?
No — it's distributed directly, with automatic updates that are verified before install.

Do I need an account?
No. Pro is unlocked with a license key you activate directly in the app.

How many Macs can one license activate?
Each license has a device limit — details are on the pricing page.

Can I change the keyboard shortcuts?
Yes — every shortcut and most tool behavior can be customized in Settings.
